A MAGNIFICENT REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

The Statesman - And - Soldier Ticket Proves Invincible.

McKINLEY WILL RE-ENTER WHITE HOUSE WITH PROBABLY OVER 300 ELECTORAL VOTES.

Democratic Leaders In Dismay Give Up The Battle Early And Concede Their Party's Overwhelming Defeat.

New York, Nov. 7, 12:30 A. M.—The members of the republican national committee, (Chairman Manley, Gibbs and Bliss), have just held a conference. At its conclusion they gave out the following statement:

From the returns that have been received at the republican national headquarters, up to this hour, the committee claims the election of McKinley and Roosevelt by an electoral vote of 281, with a possibility of twenty-one votes additional, making a total of 302. The extra twenty-one consist of thirteen votes in Kentucky and eight in Nebraska, states which we believe will go republican. The states which we claim surely for McKinley are California, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Maryland, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

The committee then closed their desks and started for their homes.

It looks as though McKinley had carried twenty-eight states, a splendid achievement. If later news bears this out, as seems extremely likely, then the republican leader returns to Washington with more than 300 electoral votes, as follows:

For McKinley.
Maine	6
New Hampshire	4
Vermont	4
Massachusetts	16
Rhode Island	4

All the returns up to five o'clock this morning indicate the reelection of President McKinley by an immense plurality of the electoral college. The democrats concede that he has carried New York state by more than 100,000. Ohio is claimed by the chairman of the republican state committee, by a majority of more than 5,000. The republicans claim Illinois by upward of 100,000. Maryland and West Virginia are both claimed by the republicans, and Maryland is conceded by the democrats. Up to this hour, no definite returns have been received showing how Indiana has gone, although the state is claimed by the democrats. Mr. McKinley has carried all the middle and western states by largely increased majorities over those of four years ago. He has carried every New England state, although the democrats had claimed Connecticut previous to the election. The returns from nearly all of the New England states tend to show considerable gains for the democrats. Judging from the figures forthcoming from 230 towns in Massachusetts, McKinley has carried the state by a majority of about 75,000. Boston has gone for Bryan by about 8500. Four years ago McKinley carried the city by 17,500. The solid south, with the exception of Maryland and West Virginia, has gone for Bryan, who gets in those states largely increased majorities. Almost all the western states have been conceded to McKinley by the democrats. The republicans claim they will show a majority of 100,000 in Illinois and nearly that in Wisconsin. The democratic leaders had given up the contest before ten o'clock in the evening, and it was announced that Bryan had gone to bed and was sound asleep. The story of the battle of the ballots is briefly and easily told. The republicans win out with a largely increased majority of the electoral college, but McKinley's pluralities in the far eastern and some western states are considerably reduced over those of four years ago. New York has come down from 263,000 to 150,000 and Illinois from 142,000 to 10,000 or less. A despatch from Indianapolis at midnight, sent by the Sentinel, says the returns are very meager and the result in the state is in doubt, but if the present percentage is kept up, McKinley will carry Indiana by about the same plurality as he did four years ago. From Columbus, Ohio it was given out at midnight that if the present ratio was kept up, the state would go for McKinley by about the same plurality as it did in '96. Returns from Washington indicate that McKinley leads Bryan there by a much larger plurality than before. In Nebraska the returns are coming in slowly, less than 200 out of the 1611 precincts having been heard from at midnight, but the indications are that McKinley will have from two to four thousand plurality. The legislature will probably be republican. At eleven o'clock a despatch was sent out from New York that the state will probably go for McKinley by about 150,000. Both sides claim Kentucky, but the chairman of the two state committees will not give out any figures. The New England states will give McKinley the following pluralities: Maine, 25,000; New Hampshire, 18,000; Vermont, 30,000 and Massachusetts about the same probably; Rhode Island, 20,000; Connecticut, 2000.

ELECTION SNAP SHOTS.

Bryan saw the handwriting on the wall at an early hour in the evening. He realized that the tide was running so strongly against him that it could not be stemmed. So he retired to his chamber before eleven o'clock and sought the solace of sleep. His weary weeks of campaigning had counted for naught. The doors of the White house would not swing wide for him to enter as the chief executive of this great nation of almost eighty millions of people. Fate had once again played him false. It only remained for him to yield calmly to the inevitable. While the plaudits of the victorious republican phalanxes were roaring from the Atlantic to the Golden Gate, from the forests of Minnesota to the sand dunes of the Texas coast, the democratic standard bearer's nerves relaxed and he slept like a child, yet hardly so,—for a child has no regrets to disturb its slumbers.

Even while the man from Nebraska,—defeated, but resigned,—was seeking forgetfulness, William McKinley sat smiling in his home at Canton, acknowledging the congratulations that came to him by hundreds—many tendered by friends in person, many more coming in merrily over the telegraph and telephone wires from the far ends of the land. And Judge Day, beaming with delight, stopped now and then in his walk up and down the room to assure the president that it was a sure case of twenty-seven states gone solidly republican.

STATE SENATORS.		ELECTED DELEGATES.
Only One Democrat Elected and 18th District In Doubt.		At a meeting in the vestry of the Methodist church on Monday evening, of the Sunday school board, Miss Edith Paul and Miss Carrie Hickey were elected delegates to attend the twenty- seventh annual meeting of the New Hampshire Sunday school association at Tilton on Nov. 13-14.

MISSING GREAT THINGS.
Genuine Gold Bricks That Have Been Kicked and Let Lie.
"I dare say every great invention, be- fore it is finally hit upon," remarked a New Orleans lawyer, "has been within hand's reach of dozens of men who were unaware how near they stood to fortune. There is nothing more singular in fact than the way people can skate around some huge idea without seeing it. When the forerunner fellow comes along, grasps the practicability of the thing and reaps the reward of perspicacity, the oth- ers who have been so near and yet so far feel somehow that he has inured with their vested rights. Lots of famous law- suits have grown out of these conditions. But it is certainly expediting to realize that you have stubbed your toe on a gen- uine gold brick and then were fool enough to walk off and let some other chap pick it up.
"I had an experience of that kind once myself. It occurred to me that a revolving bookcase would be a handy thing for office use, and I had one built to order. It proved a success, and on several occa- sions I thought vaguely of having the device patented, but dismissed the scheme as 'not worth while.' Nearly two years afterward a more intelligent gentleman up in New England did what I wouldn't do, and today he is rolling in riches. I have been obliged to give up of my money so badly in my life. Several other in- stances in the same line have come under my personal observation.
"I have a friend, for instance, who stumbled upon the principle of the Bell telephone long before the war. He was at college at the time, and he and a fel- low student actually went so far as to construct an experimental line, over half a mile long. They had it in successful op- eration for several weeks, when it was discovered and destroyed by a cantanker- ous professor, and thus vanished what might have been one of the biggest for- tunes in the world. The incident has al- most faded from my friend's mind when Professor Bell launched his invention on the public.
"Another gentleman who was formerly a client of mine anticipated the pneu- matic tire years before somebody else pat- ented it. He is fond of fine horses, and away back in the seventies he had a light road cart made that was almost the exact counterpart of the modern pneumatic sulky. The big, clumsy looking tires ex- cited great merriment among his friends. One day I thought them 'sausage wheels,' and he has told me more than once that that foolish joke was the thing that caused him to abandon the experiment. Pneu- matic tires have since made half a dozen big syndicates rich.
"Still another acquaintance figured out the exact mechanism of the self binding reaper nearly ten years before the ma- chine was covered by patents. Not being a farmer, he failed to appreciate the im- portance of the thing. It impressed him as being chimerical, and he pigeonholed his drawings to gather dust until he was awakened to the fact that he had a for- tune by the throat, only to let go again. His comments on the incident wouldn't sound well at a prayer meeting."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

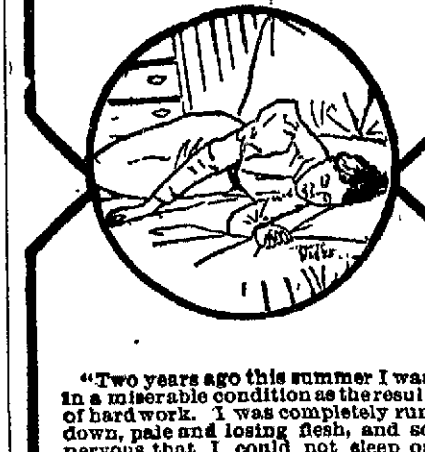

NEW HAMPSHIRE PENSIONS
Pensacola, Fla., Nov. 6.—The house in which the first state statute of Florida was enacted has been destroyed by fire. It was a palatial colonial residence owned and occupied at the time of the fire by Dr. John Buchanan, located at Gall point, on Escambia bay, 15 miles from this city. It was at the time, in July, 1821, at the time of the change of Flor- ida from Spanish to American rule, that General Jackson had his headquarters. The Florida legislative council of 13, ap- pointed in 1822 by the president, met in Pensacola, but shortly after they assem- bled yellow fever broke out, and the council and state officers adjourned to this house, where the subsequent sessions were held. It was during this assembly that the first state laws were made. The house had been a landmark for many years and figures prominently in Flor- ida's col-

A GRANITE STATE TRAIT.
The suicide of a young man in New Hampshire, just as he was coming of age, because he couldn't agree with his father's politics, is a rather grim re- minder of hereditary tendencies up there. As a rule, a young man of New Hampshire inherits his father's poli- tics as naturally as he does the family blue.—Boston Herald.

NEITHER SIDE SCORED.
A football team representing the freshman class of the Portsmouth High school lined up against the Parochial school eleven, at the bicycle park Tues- day. In two fifteen minute halves neither team was able to score, although the freshmen would have won easily had it not been for repeated fumbles. Kirkman, the Parochial school full back, is a promising punter.

It was at the time, in July, 1821, at the time of the change of Flor- ida from Spanish to American rule, that General Jackson had his headquarters. The Florida legislative council of 13, ap- pointed in 1822 by the president, met in Pensacola, but shortly after they assem- bled yellow fever broke out, and the council and state officers adjourned to this house, where the subsequent sessions were held. It was during this assembly that the first state laws were made. The house had been a landmark for many years and figures prominently in Flor- ida's col-

Nervous Exhaustion

"Two years ago this summer I was in a miserable condition as to health. I was completely run down, pale and losing flesh, and so nervous that I could not sleep or even rest. It was dreadful to go to bed at night all worn out and lie awake for hours with nervousness. My head troubled me dreadfully, too, both with pain and dizziness. If I stooped over at any time I would be so dizzy I could hardly see or keep from falling down. I became a little excited my hands would shake so I could hardly hold anything. I employed our best physicians, but not one of them did me any permanent good.

"I had, of course, read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, but had never taken any of them till Mr. Robert Van Kuren, of Jordan, recommended them to me so strongly, from his own experience, that I got some and before the first box was used I began to feel that they were doing me good. I kept on taking them according to directions and got from them the real, permanent benefit I have had from any remedy. I am a firm believer in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

Insurance Against Strikes.
 Washington, Nov. 6.—A number of Austrian manufacturers have formed an association against strikes, according to United States Consul Hensfeld at Trieste. It is the object of the association to indemnify its several members for all losses sustained by them from unjust strikes which may break out in their respective establishments. Each member is to pay a weekly premium equal to from 3 to 4 per cent of the amount of his pay roll. When a strike occurs, a committee will be appointed to investigate all the circumstances, and if the cause of the strike is found just no indemnity shall be paid. A similar insurance association, although on a smaller scale, is said to have been organized in Germany.

Another Storm at Nome.
 Port Townsend, Wash., Nov. 6.—The steamer Charles Nelson has arrived, ten days from Nome. She reports that four days prior to her sailing Nome beach was swept by another severe storm, which did much damage to small shipping and to buildings whose owners were unwise enough to construct on construction on the beach after the September storm. On this occasion, while the damage was heavy, there was no loss of life. No large packets suffered in the gale, but many small craft were demolished.

A Misunderstanding.
 They were having a spelling lesson over at a certain district school the other day, and the little scholars were all arranged in front of the teacher, spelling away for dear life, trying to see how near they could get to the head.

The word "climber" was given out to a little slick-eyed girl and she had been spelling words correctly throughout the morning, but she missed this one by inadvertently leaving out the "h."

Quick as a wink the little boy next her pounced on the word and spelled it cor-rectly.

"You may go up one, Johnnie," said the teacher.

"I don't want to," whined Johnnie getting ready to cry. "Mother would whip me if I did, because I'd get all over-whop me!"—Pearson's Weekly.

In Russia teachers are none too well paid. At a scholastic meeting some one proposed the toast, "Long live our school teachers!" "What?" asked a candor-ous looking specimen rising in his seat.

As we advance in life we learn the lim-its of our abilities.—Froude.

Just The Blues.

Many a woman dresses to go out, feels irresolute, sits down, and falls into a fit of despondent musing. Ask her what's the matter, and she'll probably answer "Just the blues." And what are the blues? Only another name, in general, for a disordered liver and a diseased stomach. Cleanse the liver, heal the stomach, purify the blood, and there'll be no more blues. It can be done by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This medicine puts the dis-eased organs of digestion and nutrition into a condition of sound health. It eliminates from the blood all impure and poisonous substances, and cleanses the clogged liver. It contains neither al-cohol nor narcotics.

"I had liver complaint for the past fifteen years, complicated with dyspepsia and gall stones," writes Mrs. M. Bernier, of 461 Elm St., Chicago, "Doctors and doctors with seven or eight prescriptions, and not one of them have done me the good, nor begun to do what your medicines have. I have used three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, one of his 'Pleasant Pellets,' and one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and have gained eighteen pounds since I first began to take these remedies."

THE NEW ARRIVAL

There came to port last Sunday night The queerest little craft, Without an inch of rigging on;
 I looked and looked and laughed;
 It seemed so curious that she Should cross the unknown water
 And moor herself right in my room—
 My daughter, oh, my daughter!

Yet these presents witness all
 She's welcome fifty times,
 And comes consigned to Hope and Love
 And common meter boats;
 She has no manifest but this:
 No flag floats o'er the water;
 She's too new for the British Lloyd's—
 My daughter, oh, my daughter!

Ring out, wild bells, and tame ones, too,
 Ring out the lover's moon;
 Ring in the little worsted socks,
 Ring in the blue and white;
 Ring in the milk and water;
 Away with paper, pen and ink!
 My daughter, oh, my daughter!

PUZZLED THE INTERPRETERS.

A Prisoner Who Didn't Understand Any of Their Languages.
 A stranger who had dropped into the Center street police court one afternoon last week might have thought that he had discovered a dramatic representation of a scene at the tower of Babel or a school of modern languages where all the instructors had gone crazy and were talking at once in all the languages they knew.

A small, swarthy, frightened-looking man was crouching in the witness chair, staring at all the official and several un-official and volunteer interpreters who were jabbering excitedly. The small man was Mike Costello, who was arrested the night before with a party of Ital-ians who were interrupted in the midst of a general fight in Eldridge street. Each of the Italians had been placed up-on the stand in turn and, though the Italian interpreters, questioned as to his part in the fight, Costello came last and was addressed by the interpreter in Ital-ian.

The witness gave no answer to the question, but only shook his head and waved his hand in a puzzled way. After two or three more questions in Italian, which elicited no reply, the interpreter gave the witness up in disgust, telling the magistrate that he was not an Italian.

"He must be French," said the magis-trate. "Is there any one here who can speak French?"

There is no regular French interpreter at street police court, but several Frenchmen in the audience volun-teered their services. All their French, however, did not bring an answer from the witness, who only squirmed uneasily in his chair and looked appealingly to the magistrate. A volunteer German in-terpreter who came next only succeeded in causing the witness to look more be-wildered than ever.

Another interpreter then took his turn and addressed the witness in an im-passioned language which sounded like a buzzsaw going through a knot. The wit-ness looked at the rapidly moving mouth and black beard in terror for a few mo-ments and finally, placing his hands over his ears, turned away with an expression of agony on his face. Several other in-terpreters, encouraged by this sign of in-telligence, started to talk excitedly in their respective languages. This was too much for the magistrate, who, jumping up from his chair, ordered them all to keep quiet.

"Why on earth don't you answer any question?" he shouted to the witness. "What language do you speak?"

"Sure, these guys wouldn't give me a chance," said the witness. "I don't speak no language at all. I didn't want ter say anything 'till they got 'tro' with their jab-bering. I can speak when I git a chance all right, and talk, but I'm a wise guy and don't get arrested for contempt of court interruptin' court officers, see?"

This answer, which was delivered with great rapidity, caused a disturbance among the interpreters, who left the courtroom hurriedly. The magistrate, however, heaved a deep sigh of relief.

"I will discharge the prisoner," he said. "I think that he has been sufficiently punished in this courtroom for any of-fense he may have committed."—New York Times.

Beauties of Nature Which We Miss.
 Dr. Charles C. Abbott in Lippincott's Magazine calls attention to one of the de-lightful of autumn which often is disre-garded by those who otherwise appreci-ate the luxury and beauty of outdoor life in the pleasant weather of early fall. He says: "The two senses only of sight and hearing will not always suffice when we ramble out of town. I have tramped from dawn to dusk with a noted natural-ist, who used to exclaim from time to time, 'See that colored leaf or that bird, that bird!' and never once referred to the odor laden air.

"No one loves the autumn leaf better than I do or appreciates more the merits of a meadow rake. I have seen the hill-sides one vast sheet of gold and crimson, yet the day was not given wholly to color, and listened to many a lark's exultant song, yet the day was not given wholly to music. Seeing and hearing much, we are all too apt to be content and forget that we have missed much if the sweets of the senses are not accompanied by the sense of smell. It matters not how commonplace the surroundings, breathe through a bruised hickory leaf, and you may linger the while in Araby the Blest."

Low and Loud.
 They were assured of a successful ses-sion of grand opera, at least from a finan-cial standpoint. Accordingly, the man-ager devoted to the two society women who had made this thing possible.

"I prefer Italian opera," said one.

"The music is so soft and low."

"Ah, but Wagner is my choice!"

"Yes, but the Italian interferes but lit-tle with the conversation in the boxes."

"True, but Wagner will give us an ex-cuse for talking all the louder."—Phila-delphia Press.

Somewhat Odd.
 Jiggs—"Is it rather odd about my wife, Jiggs—do you mean?"

Jiggs—"Why, she says she is bound to have the last word, and yet she always gives it to me."—Exchange.

CONCERNING ULCERS.

The Cause and the Treatment of These Disagreeable Sores.
 An ulcer is a sore on the skin or mucous membrane, in which the healing process is very slow or wholly at a standstill. It may be due to a number of causes, some constitutional, others local, but even when a local cause seems most evident there is almost always some constitu-tional taint present as well. This may be consumption, diabetes, gout and so forth or merely a little impurity of the blood resulting from constipation or in-digestion. Ulcers on the mouth, on the tongue or at the union of the cheeks and gums are very common and exceedingly annoying. They should be treated by frequent rinsing of the mouth with a so-lution of boric acid or borax and can usually be prevented in great measure by reducing the sweets and starchy food, such as bread, that enter into the diet.

A common seat of ulcers is the shin. Sores occur here especially in the aged or those past middle life and are commonly due to the presence of varicose veins. These are caused by pressure from tight garters, by congestive disorders of the liver and other abdominal organs and by any occupation which requires standing for many hours a day.

Ulcers of this kind are found more frequently on the left leg than on the right. They sometimes give little trou-ble, but they may be exquisitely painful and are often most rebellious to treat-ment, which must be both local and gen-eral, constituting a cure.

All disorders of digestion must be cor-rected as far as possible and the diet reg-ulated. The food should be nourishing, but not stimulating, and all forms of al-colic beverages are to be foregone. The patient should keep perfectly quiet, either in bed or with the leg supported on a chair.

The local treatment must be varied ac-cording to the necessities of the case. The sore must be kept clean by poufing over it twice a day a stream of boiled (not boiling) water and in the intervals of washing it should be protected from the air. The leg must be kept snugly ban-daged or incased in an elastic stocking, so as to prevent stagnation of the blood and distension of the veins.

A piece of silver foil smoothly applied over the surface of the ulcer and for a little distance beyond its edges and kept in place by a bandage often does good. Sometimes when the extent of ulcerated surface is very large skin grafting is nec-essary in order to start the healing pro-cess.—Youth's Companion.

DO YOU OWN AN UMBRELLA?

If You Do, Get Posted on the Law Regarding It.
 "What are you looking after?"

"Oh, I've lost my umbrella, and I thought possibly I might see some one carrying it off," replied the young man who stood in front of one of the large office buildings, looking closely at each passerby.

"What would you do if you saw some fellow carrying it away?"

"Stop him and demand its return."

"But what if he simply pushed you aside and walked away?"

"Follow him and find out his name and have him arrested."

"Do you think you would get the um-brella back?"

"Why not? Anybody who has it pos-sesses stolen property."

"Then you never heard of the decision of Lord Coleridge, the famous English jurist, in an umbrella suit that was brought before him?"

"I can't say that I have. An umbrella is the same as any other property, isn't it? Couldn't I have a man arrested for stealing my watch?"

"Yes, but wait till I read you the de-cision of Lord Coleridge."

The speaker took from his pocketbook a newspaper clipping and read:

"Umbrellas, properly considered, are a part of the atmospheric or meteorological condition, and as such there can be no in-dividual property right in them. In Sam-son versus Thompson defendant was charged with standing on plaintiff's front steps during a storm and thereby soaking up a large quantity of rain to which plaintiff was entitled. But the court held that the rain was any man's rain, no mat-ter where it fell. It follows, therefore, that the umbrella is any man's umbrella. In all ages rain and umbrellas have gone together, and there is no reason why they should be separated in law. An umbrella may, under certain conditions—the chief of which is possession—take on the at-tributes of personal property, just as if a man set a tub and catch a quantity of rain water, that rain water will be con-sidered as his personal belonging while it is in the tub. But if the sun evaporate the water, and it is rained down again, or if the tub be upset and the water is spilled, then the attribute of personal ownership instantly disappears. So if a man holds his umbrella in his hand it may be considered a personal belonging, but the moment it leaves his hand it re-tains to the great, general, indivisible common stock of umbrellas, whither the law will not attempt to pursue it."—Uti-na Observer.

Kitchener's Common Sense.
 Let this story be told to Lord Kitch-ener's credit, though it may surprise many: A certain yeomanry commander while on parade rated his men in un-measured terms. Nothing was right in his judgment that the troopers did. They sat their horses wrong, they moved un-like machinery, etc., and were "no better than a rabble," "a lot of gutter snipes," etc.

"That," said Lord Kitchener, who came up, "is not the way to address men. They are not a rabble, but soldiers and to be spoken to as such. No troops can be trained in that fashion, and the com-mander who does not respect his men is unable to lead them."

The whole force heard the observation, and the men were as decorously elated as the yeomanry officer was obviously crest-fallen.—London Telegraph.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1900.
YOU CAN TRUST THE PEOPLE

The people are always right, and on Tuesday the American people declared most emphatically that they had no use for Crokers, Bryans, Altgelds and the like, who have for the past few years threatened the welfare of every American citizen. Bryan should now take the verdict of the people, which has twice been rendered against him, and return. His dangerous and un-American ideas should now remain buried. Thinking people, who had pinned their faith in the good judgment of the people, were not disappointed. President McKinley has been endorsed, the republican party has received the popular verdict in its favor and the Herald predicts four years of continued prosperity.

WIRED CONGRATULATIONS TO PRESIDENT MCKINLEY.

Directly it had become apparent that McKinley and Roosevelt had swept the country, the following telegrams were despatched from this city:
President McKinley, Canton, Ohio.
Republicans and sound money democrats here join to congratulate you on the triumphant issue of the greatest battle for the prosperity of the American people since the days of sixty-one.
FRANK W. BACKETT.
President McKinley, Canton, Ohio.
The American people have triumphed. Your election is the greatest victory for the people since the war. The people of New Hampshire join in extending hearty congratulations for your overwhelming success at the polls in the cause of sound money, good government and prosperity. FRANK JONES.

OUR COUNTY SOLICITOR.

John W. Kelley, a Rising Young Lawyer, Who Has Earned Success.

The newly elected county solicitor, John W. Kelley, is one of Portsmouth's brilliant young lawyers. Mr. Kelley is a native of this city, being born here December 3, 1865. He attended the grammar and high schools here, graduating from the latter in June, 1883. In the fall of the same year, he returned to the high school and took a post graduate course for one year to prepare him for college. He entered Dartmouth college in 1884, and graduated from there in 1883 with high honors. On his return from college, he entered the law office of Frink & Bachelder to study law. It was while he was in this office that he was appointed principal of the Whipple school, and for nearly four years held this position and did most excellent work. He continued his law studies just the same, and was admitted to the bar in March, 1894, and opened a law office in Exchange block in August, 1894. From the start his success as a lawyer was assured, and his practice increasing, he is today recognized as one of the leading lawyers in the city.

Mr. Kelley served three years on the school board. In politics, Mr. Kelley was formerly a strong democrat but could not stand the issues of the democratic national platform which advocated free silver, and so joined the republican ranks. He was elected city solicitor and occupied this position and guarded the city's interests in a manner that has won the praise of all the people.

THE NEXT SHERIFF.

Marcus M. Collis Has Been a Busy Man All His Life—A Veteran.

Sheriff elect Marcus M. Collis of Portsmouth, was born in Ware, Mass., in 1843 of Scotch descent. He enlisted in the famous 31st Massachusetts infantry in 1861 and three years later, after active service, was captured and confined in Andersonville and Florence prisons and in 1865 was exchanged, then honorably discharged from the service. He first located in Boston, but in 1847 came to this city and has since resided here. For many years he conducted a successful dry and fancy goods business, and in 1895 was appointed a deputy sheriff and jailor at the Portsmouth jail, under Sheriff Weston of Exeter. He is prominent in Masonic circles, in Odd Fellowship, and is known throughout the state as a Grand Army leader. He has been to the legislature from ward two and is a staunch republican and in every way grandly fitted for the new duties to which he has been elected. Mr. Collis was married in 1870 to Miss Josephine Griswold, who died in 1884. Since he retired from the office of deputy sheriff and jailor, he has been engaged in the insurance business.

AN ELECTION SIGH.

One more unfortunate gone to his death, Rash and importunate lavish of breath, take him up tenderly, no use of cryin' Handle him gingerly! William J. Bryan.

THE HERALD.
WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1900
CITY BRIEFS
Pay your bets.
The moon was full.
Everything is quiet again.
It was almost a clean sweep.
Pay your bets in a good spirit.
It is easy to tell how it happened.
Of course you sat up last night and got the returns?
It was remarkably quiet here for election day.
Lots of out of town voters came home to vote.
This is Indian summer weather and it is November, too.
The facade of the Rockingham house
is undergoing improvements.
Music hall was quite a center of attraction on Tuesday evening.
Both parties claimed the fair weather
as an indication of their success.
The October game report shows up some pretty big figures after all.
The Warner club held its monthly meeting on Tuesday evening and took
in a half dozen new members.
The tug Honeybrook was towed into port this forenoon, disabled. She will be repaired at Walker's wharf.
Diphtheria relieved in twenty minutes. Almost miraculous. Dr. Thomas Electric Oil. At any drug store.
George E. Weiser, the new proprietor of the Langdon house, will tender a banquet to a select party of friends this evening.
At Peirce hall on Monday next, the ladies of the Middle street society will hold a chrysanthemum exhibit and colonial tea.
The Christian Benevolent Society of the Court street church will meet in the vestry Thursday afternoon and evening, Nov. 8.
City Marshal Harmon of Biddeford has notified Marshal Entwistle to be on the lookout for a team stolen from that city on Nov. 2.
The regular meeting of the Boys'
Anti-Tobacco league, that was to be held on Tuesday evening, was postponed to the 20th.
If your stomach is weak it should have help. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength to the stomach and cures dyspepsia and indigestion.
It is somewhat of a problem whether the mayflowers they are picking should be classed of the nineteenth century or the twentieth century crop.
Quarantine has been removed from the residence of Mrs. E. M. Gove on Maple wood avenue, her children having all recovered from scarlet fever.
Many old voters who hadn't been out to cast their ballots for a number of years were drawn to the polls by the unusually favorable weather.
Years of suffering relieved in a night.
Fitching piles yield at once to the curative properties of Doan's Ointment.
Never fails. At any drug store, 50 cents.
The King's Daughters of the Middle street church are preparing for a runnage sale to be held sometime the first week in December, the date to be announced later.
What's the secret of happy, vigorous health? Simply keeping the bowels, the stomach, the liver and kidneys strong and active. Burdock Blood Bitters does it.
The farmers are rushing their hay
into the local markets and are receiving good prices. The best hay is worth sixteen dollars a ton and the farmers have but little difficulty in disposing of all that they can get at that price.
"Little Colds" neglected—thousands of lives sacrificed every year. Dr.
Wood's Norway Pine Syrup cures little colds—cures big colds too, down to the very verge of consumption.
The vaudeville performance at Music hall on Tuesday evening was all right. A great crowd went to the playhouse to hear the returns and incidentally take in the speculation. All the participants in the show proved clever.

DEMOCRATS GOOD LOSERS.
They Cough Up to the Victors With Good Grace on the Grand Result.
Ten days from now the average voter in the city will have forgotten that there was a presidential election on Nov. 6, as far as surface indications amount to anything.
The overwhelming victory of the republicans in the city, state and nation and the general sweep left no chance for further argument and peace is swiftly settling down over the community.
Both parties have gotten together
during the day and talked over the result. The few small bets that were made were turned over to the winners.
No soreheads are to be found and instead things exist, they are not visible.
The republicans have let the democrats off without any needless digs and the utmost good nature has been apparent.
For the next four years things will pass along in peace and quietness again
and it is the wish of all that old Portsmouth will be favored during that time
as she has been in the past four.

COASTING VESSELS SCARCE.
Proving a Source of Bother to the Lumber Trade at Present.
Lumber dealers say that coasting vessels for Boston and other New England ports are very scarce; in consequence freights are high for this time of year. Sailors have been scarce all the fall and the supply does not increase. The northwest winds of the past few days undoubtedly have a good deal to do with the number of small chooners kept in port. It may be expected that as soon as some fair winds blow for a reasonable length of time,
the situation may improve.
The increase in the activity of the lumber trade in the last few weeks has made the demand for vessels large, and the slack business during the summer is in a large measure responsible for the lack of carriers for the shipments that are waiting to be forwarded now.

POLICE COURT.
John Dumphy Arraigned for an Assault on John Reagan.
John Dumphy was arraigned in police court this forenoon for an assault
on John Reagan at the Creek on Tuesday evening. Mr. Dumphy pleaded not guilty. The case was before Judge
Adams.
The respondent was given until Thursday morning to summon witnesses and was held in $300 until that time.
The state alleges an unprovoked assault and Dumphy claims that he had nothing to do with the case, whatever.

HIGH CLASS VAUDEVILLE.
The vaudeville at Music hall on Tuesday evening was of first class character and was greatly appreciated by the people who had gathered to hear the election returns. Every specialty was well received and the California trio made a great hit in their turns. Miss Maud De Lora was a genuine treat in her novelties. Our own talent, Miss Marion Brown, in her pretty clogs and dances, was loudly applauded. Prof. Bill Allen and Mr. Harry Snow in their parts received the congratulations of the professionals present for the manner in which they performed and Flynn and Marion,
the comedians brought down the house.

READ-ARCHIBALD.
The wedding of Edward Read of this city, formerly of Preston, England, to Miss Annie Isabel Archibald took place on Monday evening at the new home of the couple, 30 Ishington street. Only a select gathering of relatives and intimate friends witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. C. A.
Morrill. The house was adorned with chrysanthemums, palms and ferns and presented a charming appearance. The bride was given away by her brother, Charles H. Archibald. She wore a gown of browntwill and pale blue chif-fon. After an informal reception, supper was served the guests.

THE BRURNSIDE AT ADEN.
Gen. Greely, chief signal officer, has received a cable message from Col.
Squire of the signal service, saying that the transport Brunsides arrived at Aden, on her way to Manila. She carries the full equipment of cable apparatus designed to establish telegraphic communication with all the military stations in the Philippines.

A GOOD APPLE CROP.
J. Edward Pickering of this city has shipped thirty-four carloads of No. 1
apples from his farm in Newington and has fifteen carloads more all ready for shipment. The apples are of an unusually large and fine quality this year and are bringing a fair price in the market.
The Herald has all the latest news.

FOLLOWED OLD CUSTOM.
Pleasant Incident at the Opening of the Polls in New Castle.
A pleasing incident attended the opening of the polls at New Castle. By unanimous agreement it was arranged that the honor of depositing the first ballot should be given to the oldest man in town. Punctually at the hour named for voting the venerable Mr.
George Vennard, now in his ninety-fourth year, came to the rail, and in a clear voice gave his name. He was accompanied by Mr. Joshua Bickford, who is in his ninety-third year. These two gentlemen voted in the order of seniority. The third vote was cast by Hon. Frank W. Hackett, assistant secretary of the navy. Mr. Hackett accompanied the two veterans in a sariage to the polls, and returned with them to their respective homes. He assured each of these stalwart republicans
that he will be proud to tell President McKinley in person of the honorable privilege that he enjoyed in voting in their company. Mr. Vennard has voted for seventy three years. His first presidential vote was cast for John Quincy
Adams.

GOT PATRIOTIC FEVER.
Biddeford Boys at Kittery to Enlist in the Navy.
since the putting up of posters in Biddeford and Saco calling for recruits
to join the United States navy, a number of local boys have come to Kittery
where they underwent the examination.
Tuesday John Moylan and Patrick
Murphy, two moulders, successfully passed the examination and they will be assigned to ships.

QUO VADIS.
Quo Vadis, which will be produced at Music hall next Monday evening, is one of the most pronounced popular successes of the year. Its combination of dramatic and scenic merit gives it an unusual title to consideration. It has been said that Wilson Barrett got the idea for his melodrama from the book, Quo Vadis. If he did not he certainly came as near to certain of its episodes as accident ever allows. The discovery by the Roman lover of the Christian girl in the house of the patriarch to whom she has fled for refuge and the arena scene itself have the look of being something more than coincidences, though the giant was left out of The Sign of the Cross and the struggle between Ursus and the bull was not given. The play Quo Vadis has dared to parallel with the Barrett production.
The indication that comparison is not feared is not to be wondered at. As a picture play alone, Quo Vadis has an attractiveness which memory, at least,
does not give to The Sign of the Cross
as a drama.

George R. Champion, who has been convicted of the murder of Mrs. Elsie M. Horne of West Newfield last June, was Monday taken to Thomaston, Me.
Champion's appearance is that of a man whose mind has been relieved of a terrible suspense, even though the outcome was not just as he desired. He is said to have stated that he was entirely innocent of the crime charged against him and the guilty person will eventually be discovered.

SPREAD LIKE WILDFIRE.
When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham
Hare, a leading druggist of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years. You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach,
liver, kidneys, bowels, blood and nerves.
Electric Bitters tones up the stomach,
regulates liver, kidneys and bowels,
purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitude of maladies. It builds up the entire system.

sickly, rundown man or woman. Price struction of the first battleship Maine in Havana harbor.

FOR CHURCH AID.
Chrysanthemum Exhibit at Peirce

The Church Aid society of the Middle chrysanthemum exhibit in Peirce hall next Monday evening and plans are laid for a most pleasant evening, aside from the enjoyment derived from the beautiful exhibit of flowers.

The evening's entertainment will take the form of a colonial tea and the ladies in charge will be dressed in colonial costume. The chrysanthemums to be used will be from the conservatories of Hon. Frank Jones and will include the choice kinds for which the Jones conservatories are famous.
There will be a musical program,
which has not yet been completed, but which will well be worth attention of music lovers.
The price of admission will be thirty-refreshments will be served. The ladies of the society are working very

At 12:30 this morning, the City band appeared on the parade at the summons of the republican club and headed by a number of young republicans, the line was headed for the Rockingham, where three hearty cheers were given for Hon.
Frank Jones and Hon. Frank W.
Hackett. Mr. Jones came to the window and acknowledged the compliment and made a short speech, in which he thanked all hands and congratulated them upon the grand victory. A tour of the city was made and all the victorious republican candidates in the city were serenaded. The big crowd cheered the Herald and at three o'clock the crowds retired after letting all the inhabitants know about McKin-ley's grand victory.
